

RESPONSE TO FEEDBACK RECEIVED – CONSULTATION ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE MONETARY AUTHORITY OF SINGAPORE NOTICES TO FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS ON PREVENTION OF MONEY LAUNDERING AND COUNTERING THE FINANCING OF TERRORISM

ANNEX C - MAS NOTICE 314

1 Paragraph 4.2: Clarifications on Risk Assessments

- 1.1 With regard to paragraph 4.2(c) of the Notice, one respondent asked to clarify MAS' expectation for direct life insurers to keep their enterprise-wide risk assessments up-to-date. Specifically, the respondent asked whether MAS expected periodic reviews of the risk assessments or whether the risk assessments could be triggered only when there were new significant external or internal developments.
- 1.2 A few respondents also asked for clarity on the phrase "appropriate mechanisms to provide their risk assessment information to the Authority" in paragraph 4.2(d) of the Notice.

MAS' Response

- 1.3 On the review frequency of enterprise-wide risk assessments, MAS expects direct life insurers to review their risk assessments at least once every two years or when there are significant external or internal developments, whichever is earlier. Direct life insurers can refer to paragraph 4-18 of the Guidelines for further elaboration.
- 1.4 With regard to maintaining "appropriate mechanisms to provide risk assessment information to the Authority", MAS expects direct life insurers to ensure that the enterprise-wide risk assessments are formally documented and approved by senior management. The relevant information and documentation should be made available to MAS upon request.

2 Paragraph 6.2: Reasonable Grounds for Suspicion

2.1 One respondent asked what constituted "reasonableness" under the term "reasonable grounds for suspicion" in paragraph 6.2 of the Notice. Specifically, the respondent highlighted that generally, direct life insurers may not have sufficient information to form an opinion as to whether the funds used by the customer were proceeds of a serious offence.

MAS' Response

- 2.2 The term "reasonable grounds for suspicion" in the Notice draws reference from the Corruption, Drug Trafficking and Other Serious Crimes (Confiscation of Benefits) Act (CDSA).
- 2.3 The example highlighted by the respondent in paragraph 2.1 above is a trigger for direct life insurers to further enquire into their customers or business relations with the customers. Where direct life insurers are unable to complete CDD measures, they are not permitted to commence or continue business relations with these customers, as per paragraph 6.39 of the Notice. Direct life insurers should consider the full facts of the circumstances and the transactions involved in deciding whether to file an STR.
- 2.4 An example of a scenario where direct life insurers may consider as giving rise to "reasonable grounds for suspicion" is as follows:

A customer represents to a direct life insurer that his source of funds and wealth are from personal savings arising from his employment income. However, the premiums to be paid to the direct life insurer grossly exceeds the customer's declared expected income. The direct life insurer should take into account all other available information to ascertain if there are reasonable grounds to suspect that the customer's funds could be benefits derived from serious offences (as defined in the CDSA).

3 Paragraphs 6.6 and 6.8: Powers of Legal Person or Arrangement

- 3.1 A few respondents asked for greater clarity on the term "powers of legal person or legal arrangement" in paragraphs 6.6 and 6.8¹ of the Notice.
- 3.2 The respondents also asked for greater clarity on when direct life insurers would be required to identify and verify the identity of a customer and the connected parties, where the customer was a legal person or legal arrangement. One respondent highlighted that it would be challenging to perform CDD measures on an ongoing basis in relation to connected parties unless the customer informed the insurer of any changes.

MAS' Response

- 3.3 To provide greater clarity, MAS has amended the term in paragraphs 6.6 and 6.8^2 of the Notice to "powers that regulate and bind the legal person or legal arrangement".
- 3.4 Direct life insurers are required to perform CDD measures when the insurer establishes business relations with any customer. For guidance on ongoing monitoring, respondents can refer to paragraphs 6-10-4 and 6-10-5 of the Guidelines for more details. For higher risk categories of customers, direct life insurers should obtain updated CDD data, documents and information upon a periodic review or trigger event, whichever is earlier.

4 Paragraph 6.7: Persons having Executive Authority

4.1 With regard to paragraph 6.7³ of the Notice, one respondent asked for greater clarity on the term "natural persons having executive authority" used in the definition of "connected party".

MAS' Response

4.2 To provide greater clarity, more examples of who constitute

¹ These paragraphs were referenced as 6.7 to 6.11 in the draft Notice 314 sent out during the public consultation

² These paragraphs were referenced as 6.7 to 6.11 in the draft Notice 314 sent out during the public consultation

³ This paragraph was referenced as 6.8 in the draft Notice 314 sent out during the public consultation

"natural persons with executive authority in a company" are included in paragraph 2-2 of the Guidelines and they include, but are not limited to, the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer.

5 Paragraph 6.7: Identification of Connected Parties for Customers that are Partnerships

5.1 For customers that are partnerships, a few respondents asked for greater clarity on the term "manager" used in the definition of "connected parties".

MAS' Response

5.2 The term "manager" takes reference from section 2(1) of the Limited Liability Partnership Act (Cap. 163A) and section 28 of the Limited Partnership Act (Cap. 163B). This is clarified in paragraph 2-1 of the Guidelines.

6 Paragraph 6.9: Identification and Verification of Identity of Beneficiaries

- 6.1 A number of respondents asked for greater clarity on the CDD measures required to be performed in relation to beneficiaries. One respondent asked if the identification and verification of identity of beneficiaries would include both ID and address verification.
- 6.2 Another respondent requested for elaboration on what was meant by "beneficiaries who are designated by characteristics, by class or by other means". Another respondent commented that it would be operationally difficult to identify and verify the identity of such beneficiaries as they were not named and the proceeds from the insurance contract were paid to the trustees, executor or administrator of the estate.

MAS' Response

6.3 For a beneficiary who has been identified as a specifically named natural person, legal person or legal arrangement, direct life insurers are required to obtain and record the full name, including any aliases of such beneficiary as part of their identification process. Whereas, for a beneficiary who has been designated by characteristics, by class or by other means, direct life insurers are required to obtain sufficient information such that they will be able to establish the identity of the beneficiary at the time of payout. A direct life insurer may consider obtaining additional identification information on a beneficiary in order to assess and determine if the beneficiary presents a higher risk for money laundering or terrorism financing.

6.4 To elaborate, an example of designation by characteristics or by class is "spouse or children at the time that the insured event occurs". An example of designation by other means is "under a will". Direct life insurers should identify and verify the identity of beneficiaries who are designated by characteristics, by class or by other means, on a best effort basis.

7 Paragraphs 6.9, 6.10 and 6.17: Timing of identification and verification of identity of beneficiaries and beneficial owners of beneficiaries

- 7.1 Many respondents sought greater clarity on when identification and verification of the identity of beneficiaries should be carried out. Two respondents suggested that both the identification and verification of identity of beneficiaries should be performed only at the time of payout. One respondent was of the view that unlike policyholders or beneficial owners of customers who control the policies from the point of policy inception, money laundering risks become relevant for beneficiaries only at the point of payment of insurance proceeds.
- 7.2 Some respondents misunderstood the requirement to verify the identity of the beneficiary in paragraphs 6.9 and 6.10⁴ of the Notice to be at the time the beneficiary is identified or designated. A number of respondents also commented that verification of the identity of beneficiaries should be performed at the time of payout instead, given that beneficiaries may change over the lifetime of a policy.
- 7.3 Similar to the feedback received on beneficiaries, a number of respondents suggested that both the identification and verification of

⁴ These paragraphs were referenced as 6.13 and 6.14 in the draft Notice 314 sent out during the public consultation identity of beneficial owners of beneficiaries should be required to be performed only at the time of payout since the beneficial owners may change over the lifetime of a policy.

MAS' Response

7.4 Identification of beneficiaries is required when the beneficiaries are made known to the direct life insurer. Verification of the identity of beneficiaries, and enhanced measures such as the identification and verification of beneficial owners of beneficiaries who are legal persons or legal arrangements and who present a higher risk for money laundering or terrorism financing, on the other hand, are only required at the time of payout. The Notice has been revised to clarify this intent.

8 Paragraph 6.16: Beneficial Ownership and Percentage Threshold

8.1 A few respondents asked about the percentage threshold to determine beneficial owners of customers.

MAS' Response

- 8.2 MAS has included within paragraph 6-8-2 of the Guidelines, a 25% percentage threshold as an example of a benchmark that direct life insurers can use, to identify the natural person who ultimately owns the customer that is a legal person or legal arrangement. Essentially, when determining beneficial owners, MAS expects direct life insurers to consider the shareholdings within the ownership structure of the legal person or legal arrangement and this may be based on a threshold (e.g. any person owning more than 25% of the legal person or legal arrangement, taking into account aggregated ownerships for companies with cross-shareholdings).
- 8.3 Additionally, paragraph 6-8-3 of the Guidelines reminds direct life insurers that in situations where a natural person may not meet the shareholding threshold referred to above but nevertheless controls the customer (e.g. through exercising significant influence), the natural person is a beneficial owner of the customer.

Page 6 of 45

9 Paragraph 6.19: Stock Exchanges and Adequate Transparency

9.1 One respondent asked about the term "adequate transparency" used in paragraph 6.19(d)(ii)⁵ of the Notice. In particular, the respondent asked whether, to meet the two criteria in subparagraph (d), an entity listed on a stock exchange outside Singapore would have to be subject to disclosure and transparency requirements that were on par with those imposed by the Singapore Exchange.

MAS' Response

9.2 Direct life insurers are required to put in place an internal assessment process to assess and determine if a foreign stock exchange is subject to regulatory disclosure and adequate transparency requirements. The internal assessment process should have clear criteria, taking into account, amongst others, the country or jurisdiction risk and the level of the country's or jurisdiction's compliance with the FATF standards. This is reflected in paragraph 6-8-8 of the Guidelines.

10 Paragraph 7.1: Simplified CDD

10.1 One respondent asked whether simplified CDD measures may be applied in relation to life policies assessed to be of low ML/TF risk. Another respondent also asked whether a risk-based approach could be adopted to determine the beneficial owners in relation to lower risk policies, such as group life policies.

MAS' Response

10.2 Simplified CDD measures may be applied in cases where the direct life insurer has determined that the ML/TF risk is low. For guidance on simplified CDD, direct life insurers should refer to paragraphs 7-1 to 7-5 of the Guidelines.

11 Paragraph 8.1: Close Associate of PEPs

11.1 One respondent asked about the definition of "close associates"

⁵ This paragraph was referenced as 6.24(d) in the draft Notice 314 sent out during the public consultation.

of PEPs. The respondent asked if a close associate connected to a PEP socially included his friends.

MAS' Response

11.2 To determine whether someone is closely connected to a PEP, either socially or professionally, direct life insurers may consider the level of influence the PEP has on such a person or the extent of his exposure to the PEP. Direct life insurers may rely on information available from public sources and information obtained through customer interaction. This is reflected in paragraph 8-4-3 of the Guidelines.

12 Paragraph 8.4: Risk-Based Approach for Different PEPs

12.1 Paragraph 8.4 of the Notice allows direct life insurers to adopt a risk-based approach in relation to enhanced CDD measures for domestic PEPs and international organisation ("IO") PEPs. One respondent requested that MAS extend the same flexibility to foreign PEPs as well.

MAS' Response

- 12.2 According to FATF Recommendations, foreign PEPs are considered as higher risk because direct life insurers are less likely to have available knowledge or information about the risk variables of a foreign PEP. To ensure that the ML/TF risks are well-mitigated, MAS therefore expects direct life insurers to perform enhanced CDD measures on all foreign PEPs.
- 12.3 Although domestic and IO PEPs may be subject to a risk-based approach, it does not preclude a domestic or IO PEP presenting the same or higher ML/TF risks than a foreign PEP. For domestic or IO PEPs that present higher ML/TF risks, direct life insurers are required to apply enhanced CDD measures similar to those applied on a foreign PEP. We have included guidance on this topic in paragraph 8-5-11 of the Guidelines.

Page 8 of 45

13 Lead Time for Implementation

13.1 Several respondents requested for MAS to give adequate lead time for direct life insurers to implement the requirements of the revised Notice. They also requested for guidance on how to prioritise their remediation efforts in relation to existing customers.

MAS' Response

- 13.2 Most of the revisions to the Notice formalise existing MAS supervisory expectations. In response to the industry feedback, we will provide a transition period for direct life insurers to make changes to their processes and systems. The Notice shall take effect from 24 May 2015 to give direct life insurers one month from the release date to comply with the requirements under the new Notice.
- 13.3 In addition, we are providing three months for direct life insurers to comply with three specific requirements in the Notice. These are:
 - Paragraph 4: Assessing Risks and Applying a Risk-based Approach;
 - Paragraph 5: New Products, Practices and Technologies; and
 - Paragraphs 13.6 and 13.7: Group Information Sharing Requirements.

The above requirements will take effect from 24 July 2015. The relevant effective dates are listed in paragraph 1.3 of the Notice.

13.4 With regard to remediation, direct life insurers should prioritise the identification of higher risk customers within its existing customer base. This remediation of higher risk customers should be done within six months of the Notice issue date, by 24 October 2015. Direct life insurers are to ensure that enhanced CDD measures are performed on the higher risk customers identified within its existing customer base.
